

Disrupting Dementia Care

Truth | Vulnerability | Dream | Freedom | Love | Transformation

The answer to the dilemmas, challenges and culture of Long Term Care already exists

You've read the Toronto Star series and watched the documentary (<http://projects.thestar.com/dementia-program/>) this is now a unique conference opportunity to come and meet :

Dr David Sheard
Founder of Dementia Care Matters
'The Disruptor'

Peter Bewert
CEO of Dementia Care Matters
'The Innovator'

Moira Welsh
Journalist of The Toronto Star
Author of 'The Fix'

Nancy Polsinelli
Commissioner of Health Services,
Region of Peel 'The Pioneer'

You will have opportunity to meet leaders in Canada who have successfully implemented The Butterfly Household Model of Care. Including the Pioneers of this movement in Ontario and Alberta.

You are invited to

- Learn from David's experience in implementing Butterfly Homes across 5 countries
- Bring along a team in long term care who want to understand what the model of a Butterfly Home gives in market differentiation
- Feel inspired, challenged and leave focused on the core ingredients of achieving real culture change
- Hear about the reality and success factors in implementing an emotional intelligence model in long term care
- See why dementia design is only the wrapping to what really creates sustainable transformation
- Settle the debate on why cost benefit savings outstrip the start up costs of a Butterfly Project
- Apply to be one of the selected 15 Butterfly Home Projects to be established in Canada during 2019

This conference is designed for anyone who is inspired by The Toronto Star's article 'The Fix' to make a change in the care of Seniors throughout Canada.
